Ballantine Books has published some of the most exciting war stories ever written, and we have been burning the midnight oil deeply absorbed in them. Because we found these now-it-can-be-told narratives of World War II so thrilling, we thought that you would like to share our experiences.

We are, therefore, pleased to announce that arrangements have been made for us to offer you these carefully researched and documented stories, many with photos and maps.

Some of these books were written by the heroic men who were actively engaged in the raging battles. We promise that you will relish every fascinating moment in reliving the greatest campaigns in the history of mankind.

These pocket-sized editions cost you as little as one-tenth the price of the hard-cover editions. You can save even more by ordering complete sets. Check the titles you wish, fill in the coupon, and mail in with your payment. If you prefer to use a letter or post card, please order by number. The books will be sent postpaid.

quoteword 1

Write in over the numbered dashes as many words as you can guess from their definitions. Then enter the letters from those words in the correspondingly numbered squares in the diagram. (We've inserted Word A to illustrate.) When completed, the diagram will form a quotation from a published book or article. In addition, the first letters of the words spell out, in sequence, the author's name and the title of the work from which the quotation is taken.

secret word

Fill in over the dashes the five-letter words for which you are given definitions. The number at the right of each word tells you how many of the letters in that word also appear in the Secret Word. Find these five letters by the process of elimination and deduction and arrange them to form the Secret Word. The first letters of the words, read down, spell out a clue to the Secret Word. All the words consist of five different letters. The word lists are on page 65; the answers are on page 66.

escalator

Place the word that fits definition 1 into the first space across. Then drop one letter of that word and rearrange the remaining letters to form the word that answers definition 2. Drop another letter and rearrange to find the third answer. Place the first dropped letter in the box on the left and the second dropped letter in the box on the right. Follow this procedure to solve the entire puzzle. The outside columns at left and right, when read down, will spell out related words.

categories

How many words can you think of which are in the categories listed? The words must begin with the letters in the left-hand column. Count one point for each correct answer you get within five minutes. A score of 15 is average; 20 or more is excellent. Possible answers are on page 65.

	Famous Smiths	Measurements	Mountain Ranges	Water Vehicles	Kitchen Utensils

crypto family

Each word list relates to a single theme. But the words have been disguised by a simple code in which a different set of letters replaces the correct ones. The code is the same for all words in a given list. When you've guessed a word from its spelling (look for double-letter clues), apply the substitute letters you've discovered to the rest until the entire group is deciphered. Answers are on page 65.

answer on page 62

what am i?

My first every lover holds in his heart.
 My second of romance is always a part.
 My third is in love, my fourth and ninth, too.
 My fifth, in a pinch, will my eighth give to you.
 My sixth is a letter in a letter you mail.
 My seventh is in a sweet story I tell.
 I can be quite a comic, I can be quite a card,
 But if you accept me, love is your reward.

answer on page 66

hole-in-one

Scramble the sets of letters below to work your way around this nine-hole golf course with as low a score as possible. If you can form one word using all the letters in the set, score a hole-in-one. If you must form two smaller words, score a hole-in-two. If you must form three smaller words, score a hole-in-three. If you cannot find any combination which uses all the letters in one, two or three words, score ten. You must use every letter in the scrambled set, and only dictionary words are acceptable. Possible answers are on page 65.

CRYPTOGRAMS

1. The worst thing that can happen to a TV repairman is to have one of those days when nothing goes wrong.
2. When you get ready to borrow money from a friend, you'd better decide first which you need more.
3. The fastest driver is usually the one going nowhere in particular to do nothing important.
4. Conscience is that still small voice that makes a kid tell his mother before his sister does.
5. The difference between gossip and news depends entirely upon whether you hear it or tell it.
6. Bill collectors always call at the wrong time — when you're home.
7. Poise is the art of being ill at ease inconspicuously.
8. One value of the dime will never change; it can always be used as a screw-driver.
9. Women drive just the way men do, but they get blamed for it.
10. Whiskers are the only sure thing that will come to the man who waits.
11. The best thing about the future is that it comes only one day at a time.
12. Beauty treatments and clothes can make a woman look ten years younger, but she can't fool a long flight of stairs.
13. Economy is a way of spending money without getting any fun out of it.
14. Going straight is more important than moving in the best circles.
15. Since men have learned to move faster than sound, women are at a distinct disadvantage.
16. If a sunny disposition is conducive to longevity, then why do grouches seem to outlive everybody?
17. Etiquette is the art of yawning without opening your mouth.
18. Fad: something that goes in one era and out the other.
19. Love laughs at locksmiths, but at today's prices it can only grin at the grocer.
20. When your wife decides she wants to drive, don't stand in her way.
21. Faith will never die so long as seed catalogs are printed in color.
22. Some people's minds are like concrete: all mixed up and permanently set.

23. Popular prices aren't as popular as they used to be.

24. Careful people assume that all snakes and all mushrooms are poisonous.

25. Horse sense, naturally, only dwells in stable minds.

26. Don't expect everyone to think you are perfect; be happy if you can fool one or two people.

27. "Automatic" simply means that you can't repair it yourself.

28. Gossip travels fastest over grapevines that are slightly sour.

29. Alert aviator achieves alarming acrobatics at awesome altitude; anxious audience applauds approvingly.

QUOTEWORDS

1. Author: (Allardyce) Nicoll
Work: The World of Harlequin: A Critical Study of the Commedia dell'Arte

For Shakespeare's comedy of romance and for Congreve's comedy of manners alike the introduction of children would have been discrepant; theirs are plays of courtship; what happens thereafter has no significance.

2. Author: Edwin Lanham
Work: The Stricklands

It's fresh and green again and the drought is a year away and nature forgets . . . like men and women forget. If there was . . . some way to make men remember the world would be a better place to live in. But they forget . . . and each year they hope for something better and they live on hope.

3. Author: Kenneth Martin
Work: A Matter of Time

I had my own method of acting. It was all heart and no head. As far as I was concerned the audience were intruders, who irritated me. . . . It was complete escapism. . . . I . . . tried to speak the lines spontaneously. The game ended as soon as the curtain fell.

4. Author: (Samuel Eliot) Morison
Work: Vistas of History

. . . Franklin . . . wrote: "At length we are in peace, God be praised, and long . . . may it continue. All wars are follies, very expensive, and very mischievous. . . . When will mankind be convinced of this, and agree to settle their differences by arbitrations?"

5. Author: Dalton Trumbo
Work: Johnny Got His Gun

What the hell does liberty mean anyhow? It's just a word like house or table . . . only it's a special . . . word. A guy says house and he can point to a house . . . But a guy says come on let's fight for liberty and he can't show you . . . the thing he's talking about so how . . . the hell can he be telling you to fight for it.

6. Author: A. J. Cronin
Work: The Keys of the Kingdom

There is one thing we . . . forget. Christ taught it . . . though you wouldn't think so to hear a great many of us today. No one in good faith can ever be lost. . . . The blackest cannibals who ever devoured a missionary — if they are sincere . . . will be saved. That is the splendid mercy of God . . . at the Judgement seat.

7. Author: Leonard Mosley
Work: Haile Selassie (the Conquering Lion)

When the time comes for an epitaph to be written for Emperor Haile Selassie, I can think of none more appropriate than: "He shaped rather than waited upon events." His . . . patience, his remarkable capacity for biding his time, had never meant that he stood idly by . . .

8. Author: Alistair MacLean
Work: Fear Is the Key

The only . . . variation in the appearances of . . . judges . . . I had come to believe, was in weight — some were dried-up, lean and stringy, others triple-jowled and built to match — but beyond that any departure from the norm was unthinkable. The judge was . . . elderly . . . the expression . . . aloof, the bearing aristocratic.

9. Author: (Hollis) Summers
Work: The Weather of February

Writing is . . . full of surprises. It is rather like poking around in your purse for something such as matches, and finally emptying everything on the bed. You find the matches, but you also find several items you didn't know you wanted, which are more important, and you don't bother to light your cigarette.

10. Author: (Frank) Swinnerton
Work: A Woman in Sunshine

His view of life was artificial. . . . Men and women had only one interest for each other; they pursued, or they sought to escape from pursuit. He himself was an escaper. He thought women coarse, acquisitive, unscrupulous, and, concerning the senses, disagreeably serious.
